About the project

I was struggling with the css stuff and finally since I it is nearly a brand new things to me. Although I have learned it several years ago. Learning by doing, I was trying to make the page clear and concise(because right now I am unable to write something complex). There is still much I need to reinforce my foundation of HTML and CSS.

Plug-in is very powerful and the most important thing I found is to read the document carefully, to begin with the simple example in order to understand how the plug-in works. And then just keep trying!
